

Miss Whittaker, a prominent club woman of Savannah, Ga., tells how she was entirely cured of ovarian troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: — I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a Uterine Tonic and Regulator. I suffered for four years with irregularities and Uterine troubles. No one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental misery those endure who are thus afflicted. Your Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I was fully restored to health and attempth and now my periods are regular and manless. What a blessing it strength, and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to be able to obtain such a remedy when so many doctors fail to help you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is better than any doctor or medicine I ever had. Very truly yours, Miss Easy Whittaker, 604 39th St., W. Savannah, Ga."

No physician in the world has had such a training or such an amount of information at hand to assist in the treatment of all kinds of female ills as Mrs. Pinkham. In her office at Lynn, Mass., she is able to do more for the alling women of America than the family physician. Any woman, therefore, is responsible for her own trouble who will not take the pains to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free.

A letter from another woman showing what was accomplished in her case by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DISASTERS ON CORTELYOU.

Former Inspector Rodle Says Former Secretary Opposed Safety Mensures Suggested.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Washington, Oct. 18.—In the opinion of Robert S. Rodie, former Supervising In-spector of Steam Vessels at the Port of New York, who was removed yesterday from office by President Roosevelt, former Secretary Cortelyou, himself, is responsible for there being a defective law In a statement given out to-day, Rodie ays that at the meeting of the Board of Supervising Inspectors in Washington, in June, 1903, several changes in the laws were recommended, by which the Slocum disaster would have been made impossible. All of these recommendations, however, he says, were disapproved by Cortetyou.

The statement says:

"Among these was the one that steam fire extinguishing pipes be led into lamp room; oil rooms, and like compartments on all steamboats; that no more loose grantilated-cork life preservers be allowed to be placed on board steamboats; that there be fire drills at least once a week; that all ferry boats of over fifty tons gross shall be equipped with a life praserver or float for every person carried; that every barge carrying passengers in tow of steamers be equipped in like manner, and that each barge carry ten buckets, three axes and two yawl boats, of not less than 100-cubic feet capacity each, one of which boats must be manned or towed in such manner as to best afford prompt relief and assistance in case of accident or disaster; that all steam ferry-boats built after June 20, 1904, shall be supplied with a sufficient number of water-tight bulkheads to float the vessel if the largest compartment is filled with water; that all boat davit falls and boats be ready for immediate use."

Rodie declares that more than 100 recommended changes were killed by the then Secretary. He also says that prior to this a complete revision of the inspection laws was made, but was also disapproved by Cortelyou. In ending, Rodie says:

"It is only proper that the public should

OLD INHABITANTS

Among the civic organizations of the capital city which will be represented at capital city which will be represented at the World's Fair Friday is The Association of the Oldest Inhabitants of the District of Columbia. This organization is unique in that, so far as known, there never has been an association in any part of the country in all respects similar to it. The history of the Oldest Inhabitants Association dates back to December 7, 1895. As expressed by one of its members, it was only a few months after the close of the memorable struggle that the old families of Washington began to feel that they were strangers in a strange land, and decided to form an organization. The sole qualification for membership was that one should have been a resident of Washington for fifty years. This was later changed so that the members should be 50 years old and thirty-five years resident of the District. In view of the qualifications, all classes of citizens have allied themselves with this unique organization—professional men, Government employees, merchants and mechanics. Commencing with some who were born before the District was laid out, it is a link with the past, and in some instances sons have followed their fathers as "oldest inhabitants."

Among the officers of the association, who are elected July 4 each year, are thirteen vice presidents, "in honor of the Union of the Union of the Sates as originally formed."

The present membership of the association is about 250. In this number are the World's Fair Friday is The Associ-thirteen vice presuents, 'In monor of the Union of the United States as originally formed."

The present membership of the association is about 250. In this number are more than forty who are more than 50 years old, and three over 90. The oldest living member is William W. Birth, who was born January II. 1898. The president of a bank in Georgetown for a great many years. For the most part, however, the older members of the association have retired to private life.

At a recent meeting the association voted to send Benjamin W. Reiss, its secretary, to St. Louis as its official representative on the occasion of the observance of District Day. Other members of the association will be in attendance in their individual capacities.

An arrangement has been made whereby a large group picture of members of the Oldest Inhabitants' Association, will be placed on exhibition in the Government building on District Day. A large picture of the oldest living member, Mr. Birth, also will be exhibited.

The May Co.'s Clothes

Are interesting more fashionable men every day by the sheer force of their individuality and fashionableness. We are determined to impress on the average man the futility of having his clothes made to order, because he has nothing to gain since the May clothes were created. Test this matter one time. It won't cost much and you'll save on every garment you wear in the future.

The conventional styles are either the single or double breasted sacks with character a-plenty in each. The coats are cut longer, the collars higher and the lapels broader. We are particularly careful about the shape and hang of the trousers, because they have much to do with the appearance of the suit. The fabrics used are the latest in weave and coloring, and the finished garments have more grace and ease than in any former sea-

A Preparation of Gems.

The interesting and intricate processes for changing the rough, crude precious stones, as found in nature, into the handsome brilliant gems exhibited by the jeweler, are shown in a most attractive exhibit in the Mining building at the World's Fair. The laborious cutting of the gem with diamond saws, the subsequent tedious grinding of facets with emery and the final brilliant polishing of the gem are completely illustrated. A representation of this exhibit clearly brings out to the intelligent observer one of the reasons why the precious gems are so costly, besides being so extremely rare in nature. The skill of the operator especially gives one great respect for the high development of the technical part required in the preparation of gems.

Friend, Neb., Oct. 18.—The first day's programme of the big coursing meet, at while 500 does are entered, did not take place to-day because of rain, To-day's programme was post-poned until to-morrow.
